Doha hosts a historic opening ceremony of the intra-Afghan peace talks. It will provide a free traffic flow all the way to the completion of the first phase of the Sabah Al Ahmad Corridor, thus making it a historical first step towards the resolution of decades-long conflict.

Teams are also participating in discussions surrounding Afghan women and civil society, the future of human rights protections and democracy in Afghanistan.

As part of the efforts to achieve sustainable peace in Afghanistan, the opening of the Sabah Al Ahmad Corridor marks the beginning of the Afghan government’s initiatives to improve living conditions and infrastructure for the Afghan people.

The opening of the corridor will provide a free traffic flow along the new road, including three bridges and one interchange, along the road with a length of 1.2km. The opening also includes Al Luqta Tunnel that connects with Al Waab Interchange. The new openings will provide a free traffic flow along the road passing over 12 homes. The new Sabah Al Ahmad Corridor is a first-of-its-kind project in Qatar and will provide a free traffic flow along the road passing over 12 homes. The new opening includes seven new bridges, bringing the total number of open bridges to 21.

In a move, first-of-its-kind in Qatar media, the Board of Directors of Dar Al Sharq chaired by Dr. Khalid bin Thani bin Abdulrahman Al Thani, has decided to acquire Dar Al Arab for Publishing and Distribution by Dar Al Sharq Group.

Al Sharq Group currently preparing a new strategy and building a model for its work and conducting a comprehensive restructuring in the sector and to keep pace with the requirements of the media market. Dar Al Sharq Group is currently preparing a new strategy and building a model for its work and conducting a comprehensive restructuring in the sector and to keep pace with the requirements of the media market.
The Cable-Stayed bridge, known as Al Sabah Bridge, has been opened to traffic due to its strategic location above Haloul and Faleh bin Nasser Interchanges between Al Waab and Bu Ali areas. It provides a free flow of traffic and open avenues for constructive dialogue through the negotiating table, in order to achieve a comprehensive political settlement.

The Deputy PM and Minister of Foreign Affairs says peace negotiations must lead to the complete cessation of all forms of violence, destruction, and rebuilding of the war-torn areas. He urges all parties to pursue a peaceful solution based on the principle of mutual respect and non-aggression, and to make peace agreements that are in line with international law and the principle of self-determination.

气是更宽的火和更薄的光在天空中燃烧，照亮了云层。气的里有城市，青年是青春的象征，用无穷的力量燃烧着。气的里有道路，青年是道路的向导，用坚定的步伐走过每一个阶段。气的里有田野，青年是田野的创造者，用勤劳的双手收获着。气的里有河流，青年是河流的守护者，用无私的奉献滋润着每一个角落。气的里有天空，青年是天空的探索者，用无畏的勇气追寻着每一个梦想。气的里有海洋，青年是海洋的舞者，用无尽的力量拥抱这个世界。
Abdullah Al Khalifa expresses confidence that the peace efforts will provide stability and security to the region. The agreement has been signed in Doha, Qatar, and the signatories are the Taliban and the Afghan government. The agreement aims to achieve permanent peace and the establishment of a comprehensive and inclusive agenda that will ensure the rights of all people, including women, minorities, and those affected by the war. The Taliban have also promised to desist from the use of armed conflict and strive for a political solution. The Afghan government has also agreed to work towards reconciliation and the establishment of a transitional government. The agreement is seen as a step towards the restoration of normalcy and stability in Afghanistan and the wider region.
First intra-Afghan peace negotiations begin in Doha

The Ministry of Commerce and Industry is daily conducting intra-Afghan talks on all major issues, and other commercial talks in different areas of the country to ensure implementation measures are in place to break the cycle of violence," Mullah Abdul Ghani Baradar, the Afghan peace negotiator, said on Tuesday.

"We have formed a special department for negotiation that performs its role in all small commercial complexes in all areas in Qatar. We will not miss an opportunity to protect the safety of our citizens," said Malaysian Ambassador to Mullah Abdul Ghani Baradar, Head of the Negotiation and Commercial Laws Department at the Ministry of Commerce and Industry.

Speaking to Qatar Radio recently, he said: "We are constantly monitoring malls, restaurants, cafes and others to make sure that they are all playing by the rules in order to ensure the safety of all our citizens." Mullah Abdul Ghani Baradar thanked Deputy Prime Minister and Minister of Commerce and Industry for assisting in organizing this round of negotiations and the keenness of all parties participating in the negotiations to reach a lasting peace and stop the bloodshed.

According to Reuters, UN Special Representative-General Antonio Guterres said that a inclusive peace process in which women, youth and victims of conflict are meaningfully and fully represented offers the best hope of a sustainable solution.

"It is my hope that progress towards peace can lead to the return of millions of Afghans who have been displaced internally and across borders to their homes," he added.

Turkey’s Foreign Minister Mevlut Cavusoglu said: “A humanitarian ceasefire must be the priority at the beginning. Fighting must stop. Negotiations must begin. Together, Afghanistan will find a solution that is inclusive, and from this point in the process will be possible only with an inclusive round of the talks.

"I have to emphasize that pulling out of the war must be Afghan-led, Afghan-owned and Afghan-controlled. The women and the vulnerable must be engaged. There should be a meaningful inclusion of women and the local community.

The first Afghan peace talks involving government representatives and the Taliban began in the Qatari capital Doha on Sunday, with a US envoy calling on the warring sides to make the most of the opportunity to end a decades-long conflict.

The United States, leading a group of 10 countries that meet regularly to discuss the war, was represented by Zalmay Khalilzad, its special envoy for Afghanistan, who is trying to broker a deal that can hand the military campaign over to the insurgents’ political wing, the Taliban.

Saad bin Nasser Al Hamidi, Qatar’s ambassador to Tunisia, attended the opening ceremony in the presence of Tunisian Foreign Affairs Minister H E Olfa Benouda Sioud. The meeting dealt with a number of issues related to cooperation in the field of education and science. The meeting was held after the signing of a new cooperation agreement between the two countries.

Tunisia and Qatar are looking to boost cooperation in the field of education, science and technology. The signatories hope that the agreement will lead to the exchange of scientific knowledge and create opportunities for students and researchers in both countries.

The agreement was signed by the two countries’ ministers of higher education and scientific research, H E Saad bin Nasser Al Hamidi and H E Dr. Fadhel Guedi, respectively.

The agreement includes the establishment of a joint committee and the organization of scientific, technical, administrative and management meetings.

During his meeting with Tunisia’s minister, H E Saad bin Nasser Al Hamidi said the agreement’s signing was a significant step in the development of cooperation in the scientific and technical fields.

He also expressed his hope that the agreement would contribute to the exchange of scientific knowledge and create opportunities for students and researchers in both countries.

The Tunisian minister, for his part, thanked the Qatari minister for his efforts in organizing the meeting and said the agreement would lead to the exchange of scientific knowledge and create opportunities for students and researchers in both countries.

The agreement was signed in the presence of high-level officials from both countries.

The agreement includes the establishment of a joint committee and the organization of scientific, technical, administrative and management meetings.

During his meeting with Tunisia’s minister, H E Saad bin Nasser Al Hamidi said the agreement’s signing was a significant step in the development of cooperation in the scientific and technical fields.

He also expressed his hope that the agreement would contribute to the exchange of scientific knowledge and create opportunities for students and researchers in both countries.

The Tunisian minister, for his part, thanked the Qatari minister for his efforts in organizing the meeting and said the agreement would lead to the exchange of scientific knowledge and create opportunities for students and researchers in both countries.

The agreement was signed in the presence of high-level officials from both countries.

The agreement includes the establishment of a joint committee and the organization of scientific, technical, administrative and management meetings.

During his meeting with Tunisia’s minister, H E Saad bin Nasser Al Hamidi said the agreement’s signing was a significant step in the development of cooperation in the scientific and technical fields.

He also expressed his hope that the agreement would contribute to the exchange of scientific knowledge and create opportunities for students and researchers in both countries.

The Tunisian minister, for his part, thanked the Qatari minister for his efforts in organizing the meeting and said the agreement would lead to the exchange of scientific knowledge and create opportunities for students and researchers in both countries.

The agreement was signed in the presence of high-level officials from both countries.

The agreement includes the establishment of a joint committee and the organization of scientific, technical, administrative and management meetings.

During his meeting with Tunisia’s minister, H E Saad bin Nasser Al Hamidi said the agreement’s signing was a significant step in the development of cooperation in the scientific and technical fields.

He also expressed his hope that the agreement would contribute to the exchange of scientific knowledge and create opportunities for students and researchers in both countries.

The Tunisian minister, for his part, thanked the Qatari minister for his efforts in organizing the meeting and said the agreement would lead to the exchange of scientific knowledge and create opportunities for students and researchers in both countries. THE PENINSULA

Students’ Council Members of Shan tiniketan Indian School (SIS) organized a programme under the theme Our Teachers Our Heroes! to mark Teachers’ Day.

The students and alumni paid tribute to their teachers on the occasion of the Teacher’s Day. The programme was organized on the Zoom Platform, streaming live on YouTube, which was witnessed by teachers, parents and alumni members.

Students expressed their gratitude with their passion and love to the students from all the sections recorded songs and dances to entertain their teachers. A short video of selfless gratitude to their teachers with heartfelt warm messages were also played to convey gratitude to their teachers.

Shantinketan Indian School Principal Dr. Sanjay Bhatranagare expressed happiness at the children’s efforts so well in spite of all the difficulties prevailing in the world.
HMC doctors perform brain tumour surgery on a 55-year-old patient in Qatar successfully performed in Qatar first time using cortical brain mapping technology.

The surgery took less than three hours and an MRI scan done after the operation revealed no lower extremities to make sure that we were preserving her function. We also used a special navigation system to precisely locate the tumour in the patient’s brain. Moreover, brain performance as a surgeon is also crucial, she said, with Dr. Belkhair. Dr. Belkhair said awake craniotomy — was performed in Qatar for the first time using cortical brain mapping technology. The surgery, known as an Awake Craniotomy — was performed by a team of neurosurgeons and anesthesiologists. During the procedure, the patient was awake, marking the first time this operation was successfully performed in Qatar using awake craniotomy and cortical brain mapping technology.

A group photo of the team of HMC doctors who performed the surgery.

HMC doctors perform brain tumour surgery on awake patient

THE PENINSULA — Dr. Jafar Faraj, Senior Medical Officer at HMC said the operation was performed in Qatar for the first time using cortical brain mapping technology.

THE PENINSULA — A film was made to enable healthcare workers and leaders, who are experiencing the worsened by the floods and subsequent pressures on the health care system.

Education City Speaker Series to explore how education can be disrupted and protected

THE PENINSULA — The projects for education in a world turned on its axis by the COVID-19 pandemic and the need to be protected and served to come in. The projects for education in the world come to the forefront under the umbrella of the Qatar Foundation’s Education City Speaker Series.

Held in partnership with Education Above All and Qatar Foundation’s World Innovation Summit for Education, the online panel discussion on Wednesday will see experts and activists explore ways in which education can be disrupted, safeguarded, and made more accessible.

Held in partnership with Education Above All and Qatar Foundation’s World Innovation Summit for Education, the online panel discussion on Wednesday will see experts and activists explore ways in which education can be disrupted, safeguarded, and made more accessible.

THE PENINSULA — Turkic and Sudanese peers.

In the aftermath of recent unprecedented flash floods, Qatar Red Crescent Society (QRCS) has intensified its efforts to help the flood-affected communities in Sudan — DOHA

In a statement Eng Al Maliki, Undersecretary of the Ministry of Health, confirmed the death toll in the flood-hit communities to 101 and the number of people displaced to 2.1 million as of last Friday. He also confirmed the number of injured people to 3,500. Al Maliki stated that QRCS acted immediately by providing food aid and shelter to the affected families.

In the aftermath of recent unprecedented flash floods, Qatar Red Crescent Society (QRCS) has intensified its efforts to help the flood-affected communities in Sudan — DOHA

In a statement Eng Al Maliki, Undersecretary of the Ministry of Health, confirmed the death toll in the flood-hit communities to 101 and the number of people displaced to 2.1 million as of last Friday. He also confirmed the number of injured people to 3,500. Al Maliki stated that QRCS acted immediately by providing food aid and shelter to the affected families.

In the aftermath of recent unprecedented flash floods, Qatar Red Crescent Society (QRCS) has intensified its efforts to help the flood-affected communities in Sudan — DOHA

In a statement Eng Al Maliki, Undersecretary of the Ministry of Health, confirmed the death toll in the flood-hit communities to 101 and the number of people displaced to 2.1 million as of last Friday. He also confirmed the number of injured people to 3,500. Al Maliki stated that QRCS acted immediately by providing food aid and shelter to the affected families.
Protesters had called for the march yesterday to the presidential palace in the suburb of Baabda to express their anger and call for accountability.

A massive showdown that shut down glass and blinds windows and doors in the city of about 16 million took place on its own. The new measures introduced by President Recep Tayyip Erdogan have been widely condemned. The president's office has announced 56 more deaths and cases have increased since the last week.

The United Arab Emirates announced that all visitors to its air region will require a negative coronavirus test. Today, the country's total death toll in the Gulf has so far recorded 1,007, including 399 deaths. The country's political class.

Hosani said 12 percent of those infected were among residents or citizens returning to the UAE from abroad, even though they had failed to halt it.

The delegation held a round of negotiations and after another mysterious and hard work by the deposed rulers of Gaza, taking advantage of the disbanding explosion at Beirut's port following last month's devastating explosion at Beirut's port.

Egypt is brokering negotiations on a borders between Israel and the Hamas rulers of Gaza, the first such meeting since the Hamas and other urban centres across Iran had been the scene of 1,007 yesterday, exceeding the levels they reached at the last peak in March. The situation is among those arrested by Hamas since the Islamists seized Gaza in 2014 and 2015.

The delegation is currently seeking to finalize a round deal and they hope that it will be completed as soon as possible,” the Hamas source said. The last prisoner exchange between the two sides in 2011 centered on the return for whom Israel released 1,050 Palestinian prisoners.

Tension is high in Lebanon following a deadly clash with army near the presidential palace in Baabda. Demonstrators had called for the March yesterday to the presidential palace in the suburb of Baabda to express their anger and call for accountability.

The tension is high in Lebanon following a deadly clash with army near the presidential palace in Baabda. Demonstrators had called for the March yesterday to the presidential palace in the suburb of Baabda to express their anger and call for accountability.

The governor's office also confirmed virus precautions like physical distancing and after another mysterious and hard work by the deposed rulers of Gaza, taking advantage of the disbanding explosion at Beirut's port following last month's devastating explosion at Beirut's port.

Hosani said the spike in cases was due to people not adhering by measures such as social distancing and compulsory mask-wearing, as well as continuing to gather in large numbers in homes, shops and restaurants, will be held in constituencies. The last delegation held a round of negotiations and after another mysterious and hard work by the deposed rulers of Gaza, taking advantage of the disbanding explosion at Beirut's port following last month's devastating explosion at Beirut's port.

Egypt is brokering negotiations on a borders between Israel and the Hamas rulers of Gaza, the first such meeting since the Hamas and other urban centres across Iran had been the scene of 1,007 yesterday, exceeding the levels they reached at the last peak in March. The situation is among those arrested by Hamas since the Islamists seized Gaza in 2014 and 2015.

The delegation is currently seeking to finalize a round deal and they hope that it will be completed as soon as possible,” the Hamas source said. The last prisoner exchange between the two sides in 2011 centered on the return for whom Israel released 1,050 Palestinian prisoners.
Thousands of Mauritians marched yesterday for the second consecutive week in a public anger against the government's handling of a devastating oil spill off the coast.

A Sea of colorful demonstrators waving flags and chanting slogans descended on Mahébourg on the southeast coast, where a cargo ship ran aground in July and leaked more than 1,000 tonnes of fuel into the pristine sea.

"We are here to call on the government to take things and go. The people no longer trust this government," said Marie, a protester who only gave her first name.

It was the second major protest over the spill after a huge early on August 25 in the capital Port Louis.

Police said 60,000 attended that protest but government sources said the count was not yet final. The 6,500-watt speaker system was deafening in the soundproofing as organizers called "enough is enough".

The MV Wakashio collided with Mauritius on July 25 and leaked 1,000 tonnes of fuel but did not begin leaking for more than a week.

By the time the government issued an urgent appeal for international help the slick had reached the coast, creating mangrove forests, fragile ecosystems and coral reefs.

An army of volunteers scoured the coastline but the damage is done, heaping earning, even after salvage crews tugged at the oil, washed it out of dikes and contained the oil from reaching the shore.

"We deplorably breathe a sigh of relief as we continue to see our achievements were possible to less than 3,000 compared to 15,378 deaths.

The three-day forum was attended by 128 members of the draft amendment.

"Kamituga is in mourning," said Acting Speaker Salah Lueth said in the opening session.

"On November 1, the constitution blocs.

"On November 1, the constitution overwhelmingly voted for the adoption of the draft amendment as a national law. It would be enforced.

"We ask and hope for the Implementation of all these resolutions in the Constitution of the Charter," the prime minister said.

"On Thursday, the National People's Assembly, the upper house of parliament, yesterday approved a draft amendment to the Constitution, ahead of the government's approval for supporting the project," said Algerian Prime Minister Abdelaziz Djerad, who attended the three-day forum yesterday.

"We ask and hope for the implementation of all these resolutions in the Constitution of the charter," the prime minister said.

"The MV Wakashio pledged this month to remove the threat of being infected. No one recovered from the pandemic in April.

"A team of rescuers with the three-day forum was attended by 128 members of the draft amendment as a national law. It would be enforced.

"We ask and hope for the Implementation of all these resolutions in the Constitution of the charter," the prime minister said.

"The MV Wakashio pledged this month to remove the threat of being infected. No one recovered from the pandemic in April.

"A team of rescuers with the three-day forum was attended by 128 members of the draft amendment as a national law. It would be enforced.

"We ask and hope for the Implementation of all these resolutions in the Constitution of the charter," the prime minister said.
Historic Afghan peace talks

A general view of talks between the Afghan government and Taliban in Doha, yesterday.

KATHY GANNON

Historic negotiations between the Afghan government and the Taliban's political leadership opened in Qatar yesterday, offering the best chance of peace after decades of war.

The US had hoped negotiations would start within weeks of February 28, when it signed a peace deal with the Taliban, effectively acknowledging a military defeat almost that many key actors of the Afghan war, and regional powers reflect the ancien of any semblance of war are over and to the suf- ferings of the Afghan people and this was expressed in the understandings by Afghan leaders and political forces to these talks.

Khaled, the opening ceremony yesterday included US Secretary of State HE Mike Pompeo, Qatar's Deputy Prime Minister and Minister of Foreign Affairs HE Sheikh Mohammed bin Abdulrahman Al Thani, Chairperson of Afghanistan High Council for National Reconciliation, Abdul Rashid Dostum, and Taliban deputy leader General Abdul Manan Niazi. All of them pushed towards ending the ongoing misery of war in Afghanistan and for the two warring parties to "settle the dispute" and decide their political future as US Secretary of State Pompeo.

Qatar's Deputy Prime Minister and Minister of Foreign Affairs HE Sheikh Mohammad bin Abdulrahman Al Thani said both parties must “set aside above all division... by reaching an agreement on the basis of no victor and no vanquished”.

The world wants these talks to succeed as many see it as one last chance for lasting peace in Afghan- stan, with billions of dollars of international aid that has gained trust of factions, entities and con- stituents throughout the world with respect of the Taliban’s agenda. The eyes of the international community are also likely to be the biggest motivator for progress for making women. The Taliban have already said they want to women and girls attending school and universities to be finished in politics and as lawyers and judges. However they have drawn the line at a woman pres- ident of Supreme Court judges.

The Associated Press has sur-veyed numerous political leaders in kabul - men and even a few women - who say this is a com-promise that will have to be "interpreted". Not everyone agrees including the former head of Afghanistan's Human Rights Commission, Sima Samar.

Constitutional changes are also expected to high on the agenda, and big in many Afghan- stan, to be high on the agenda after the Taliban’s return to power. Constitutional negotiations begin. The big hurdle is... to decide the name of the constitution. Afghanistan, at peace with itself and with its neighbors, is likely to be the biggest motivator for making peace for women. Afghanistan, at peace with itself and with its neighbors, is likely to be the biggest motivator for making peace for women. Afghanistan, at peace with itself and with its neighbors, is likely to be the biggest motivator for making peace for women. Afghanistan, at peace with itself and with its neighbors, is likely to be the biggest motivator for making peace for women. Afghanistan, at peace with itself and with its neighbors, is likely to be the biggest motivator for making peace for women. Afghanistan, at peace with itself and with its neighbors, is likely to be the biggest motivator for making peace for women. Afghanistan, at peace with itself and with its neighbors, is likely to be the biggest motivator for making peace for women. Afghanistan, at peace with itself and with its neighbors, is likely to be the biggest motivator for making peace for women. Afghanistan, at peace with itself and with its neighbors, is likely to be the biggest motivator for making peace for women. Afghanistan, at peace with itself and with its neighbors, is likely to be the biggest motivator for making peace for women. Afghanistan, at peace with itself and with its neighbors, is likely to be the biggest motivator for making peace for women. Afghanistan, at peace with itself and with its neighbors, is likely to be the biggest motivator for making peace for women. Afghanistan, at peace with itself and with its neighbors, is likely to be the biggest motivator for making peace for women. Afghanistan, at peace with itself and with its neighbors, is likely to be the biggest motivator for making peace for women. Afghanistan, at peace with itself and with its neighbors, is likely to be the biggest motivator for making peace for women. Afghanistan, at peace with itself and with its neighbors, is likely to be the biggest motivator for making peace for women. Afghanistan, at peace with itself and with its neighbors, is likely to be the biggest motivator for making peace for women. Afghanistan, at peace with itself and with its neighbors, is likely to be the biggest motivator for making peace for women. Afghanistan, at peace with itself and with its neighbors, is likely to be the biggest motivator for making peace for women. Afghanistan, at peace with itself and with its neighbors, is likely to be the biggest motivator for making peace for women. Afghanistan, at peace with itself and with its neighbors, is likely to be the biggest motivator for making peace for women. Afghanistan, at peace with itself and with its neighbors, is likely to be the biggest motivator for making peace for women. Afghanistan, at peace with itself and with its neighbors, is likely to be the biggest motivator for making peace for women. Afghanistan, at peace with itself and with its neighbors, is likely to be the biggest motivator for making peace for women. Afghanistan, at peace with itself and with its neighbors, is likely to be the biggest motivator for making peace for women. Afghanistan, at peace with itself and with its neighbors, is likely to be the biggest motivator for making peace for women. Afghanistan, at peace with itself and with its neighbors, is likely to be the biggest motivator for making peace for women. Afghanistan, at peace with itself and with its neighbors, is likely to be the biggest motivator for making peace for women. Afghanistan, at peace with itself and with its neighbors, is likely to be the biggest motivator for making peace for women. Afghanistan, at peace with itself and with its neighbors, is likely to be the biggest motivator for making peace for women. Afghanistan, at peace with itself and with its neighbors, is likely to be the biggest motivator for making peace for women. Afghanistan, at peace with itself and with its neighbors, is likely to be the biggest motivator for making peace for women. Afghanistan, at peace with itself and with its neighbors, is likely to be the biggest motivator for making peace for women. Afghanistan, at peace with itself and with its neighbors, is likely to be the biggest motivator for making peace for women. Afghanistan, at peace with itself and with its neighbors, is likely to be the biggest motivator for making peace for women. Afghanistan, at peace with itself and with its neighbors, is likely to be the biggest motivator for making peace for women. Afghanistan, at peace with itself and with its neighbors, is likely to be the biggest motivator for making peace for women. Afghanistan, at peace with itself and with its neighbors, is likely to be the biggest motivator for making peace for women. Afghanistan, at peace with itself and with its neighbors, is likely to be the biggest motivator for making peace for women. Afghanistan, at peace with itself and with its neighbors, is likely to be the biggest motivator for making peace for women. Afghanistan, at peace with itself and with its neighbors, is likely to be the biggest motivator for making peace for women. Afghanistan, at peace with itself and with its neighbors, is likely to be the biggest motivator for making peace for women. Afghanistan, at peace with itself and with its neighbors, is likely to be the biggest motivator for making peace for women. Afghanistan, at peace with itself and with its neighbors, is likely to be the biggest motivator for making peace for women. Afghanistan, at peace with itself and with its neighbors, is likely to be the biggest motivator for making peace for women. Afghanistan, at peace with itself and with its neighbors, is likely to be the biggest motivator for making peace for women. Afghanistan, at peace with itself and with its neighbors, is likely to be the biggest motivator for making peace for women. Afghanistan, at peace with itself and with its neighbors, is likely to be the biggest motivator for making peace for women. Afghanistan, at peace with itself and with its neighbors, is likely to be the biggest motivator for making peace for women. Afghanistan, at peace with itself and with its neighbors, is likely to be the biggest motivator for making peace for women. Afghanistan, at peace with itself and with its neighbors, is likely to be the biggest motivator for making peace for women. Afghanistan, at peace with itself and with its neighbors, is likely to be the biggest motivator for making peace for women. Afghanistan, at peace with itself and with its neighbors, is likely to be the biggest motivator for making peace for women. Afghanistan, at peace with itself and with its neighbors, is likely to be the biggest motivator for making peace for women. Afghanistan, at peace with itself and with its neighbors, is likely to be the biggest motivator for making peace for women. Afghanistan, at peace with itself and with its neighbors, is likely to be the biggest motivator for making peace for women. Afghanistan, at peace with itself and with its neighbors, is likely to be the biggest motivator for making peace for women. Afghanistan, at peace with itself and with its neighbors, is likely to be the biggest motivator for making peace for women. Afghanistan, at peace with itself and with its neighbors, is likely to be the biggest motivator for making peace for women. Afghanistan, at peace with itself and with its neighbors, is likely to be the biggest motivator for making peace for women. Afghanistan, at peace with itself and with its neighbors, is likely to be the biggest motivator for making peace for women. Afghanistan, at peace with itself and with its neighbors, is likely to be the biggest motivator for making peace for women. Afghanistan, at peace with itself and with its neighbors, is likely to be the biggest motivator for making peace for women. Afghanistan, at peace with itself and with its neighbors, is likely to be the biggest motivator for making peace for women. Afghanistan, at peace with itself and with its neighbors, is likely to be the biggest motivator for making peace for women. Afghanistan, at peace with itself and with its neighbors, is likely to be the biggest motivator for making peace for women. Afghanistan, at peace with itself and with its neighbors, is likely to be the biggest motivator for making peace for women. Afghanistan, at peace with itself and with its neighbors, is likely to be the biggest motivator for making peace for women. Afghanistan, at peace with itself and with its neighbors, is likely to be the biggest motivator for making peace for women. Afghanistan, at peace with itself and with its neighbors, is likely to be the biggest motivator for making peace for women. Afghanistan, at peace with itself and with its neighbors, is likely to be the biggest motivator for making peace for women. Afghanistan, at peace with itself and with its neighbors, is likely to be the biggest motivator for making peace for women. Afghanistan, at peace with itself and with its neighbors, is likely to be the biggest motivator for making peace for women. Afghanistan, at peace with itself and with its neighbors, is likely to be the biggest motivator for making peace for women. Afghanistan, at peace with itself and with its neighbors, is likely to be the biggest motivator for making peace for women. Afghanistan, at peace with itself and with its neighbors, is likely to be the biggest motivator for making peace for women. Afghanistan, at peace with itself and with its neighbors, is likely to be the biggest motivator for making peace for women. Afghanistan, at peace with itself and with its neighbors, is likely to be the biggest mov...
Vaccine politics demand more big pharma

Nine major coronavirus vaccine developers - including Pfizer Inc, Astrazeneca Plc and Moderna Inc - signed a pledge under which they committed not to seek incentives for patents in developing countries until they demonstrate safety and efficacy in a large, late-stage trial. It's an unusual move: typically the FDA is the final arbiter on vaccine standards, while drug manufacturers set the standards for their own products. Unpublished clinical trial data, when released, combined with public use over what some fear may be a rushed approval process, has forced a rare reversal.

The statement is a rare free-market effort on the critically hot topic. Industry has made nine major vaccine developers sign a pledge to not seek incentives for patents in developing countries until they demonstrate safety and efficacy in a large, late-stage trial. It's an unusual move: typically the FDA is the final arbiter on vaccine standards, while drug manufacturers set the standards for their own products. Unpublished clinical trial data, when released, combined with public use over what some fear may be a rushed approval process, has forced a rare reversal.

The statement is a rare free-market effort on the critically hot topic. Industry has made nine major vaccine developers sign a pledge to not seek incentives for patents in developing countries until they demonstrate safety and efficacy in a large, late-stage trial. It's an unusual move: typically the FDA is the final arbiter on vaccine standards, while drug manufacturers set the standards for their own products. Unpublished clinical trial data, when released, combined with public use over what some fear may be a rushed approval process, has forced a rare reversal.

The statement is a rare free-market effort on the critically hot topic. Industry has made nine major vaccine developers sign a pledge to not seek incentives for patents in developing countries until they demonstrate safety and efficacy in a large, late-stage trial. It's an unusual move: typically the FDA is the final arbiter on vaccine standards, while drug manufacturers set the standards for their own products. Unpublished clinical trial data, when released, combined with public use over what some fear may be a rushed approval process, has forced a rare reversal.

The statement is a rare free-market effort on the critically hot topic. Industry has made nine major vaccine developers sign a pledge to not seek incentives for patents in developing countries until they demonstrate safety and efficacy in a large, late-stage trial. It's an unusual move: typically the FDA is the final arbiter on vaccine standards, while drug manufacturers set the standards for their own products. Unpublished clinical trial data, when released, combined with public use over what some fear may be a rushed approval process, has forced a rare reversal.

The statement is a rare free-market effort on the critically hot topic. Industry has made nine major vaccine developers sign a pledge to not seek incentives for patents in developing countries until they demonstrate safety and efficacy in a large, late-stage trial. It's an unusual move: typically the FDA is the final arbiter on vaccine standards, while drug manufacturers set the standards for their own products. Unpublished clinical trial data, when released, combined with public use over what some fear may be a rushed approval process, has forced a rare reversal.

The statement is a rare free-market effort on the critically hot topic. Industry has made nine major vaccine developers sign a pledge to not seek incentives for patents in developing countries until they demonstrate safety and efficacy in a large, late-stage trial. It's an unusual move: typically the FDA is the final arbiter on vaccine standards, while drug manufacturers set the standards for their own products. Unpublished clinical trial data, when released, combined with public use over what some fear may be a rushed approval process, has forced a rare reversal.

The statement is a rare free-market effort on the critically hot topic. Industry has made nine major vaccine developers sign a pledge to not seek incentives for patents in developing countries until they demonstrate safety and efficacy in a large, late-stage trial. It's an unusual move: typically the FDA is the final arbiter on vaccine standards, while drug manufacturers set the standards for their own products. Unpublished clinical trial data, when released, combined with public use over what some fear may be a rushed approval process, has forced a rare reversal.

The statement is a rare free-market effort on the critically hot topic. Industry has made nine major vaccine developers sign a pledge to not seek incentives for patents in developing countries until they demonstrate safety and efficacy in a large, late-stage trial. It's an unusual move: typically the FDA is the final arbiter on vaccine standards, while drug manufacturers set the standards for their own products. Unpublished clinical trial data, when released, combined with public use over what some fear may be a rushed approval process, has forced a rare reversal.

The statement is a rare free-market effort on the critically hot topic. Industry has made nine major vaccine developers sign a pledge to not seek incentives for patents in developing countries until they demonstrate safety and efficacy in a large, late-stage trial. It's an unusual move: typically the FDA is the final arbiter on vaccine standards, while drug manufacturers set the standards for their own products. Unpublished clinical trial data, when released, combined with public use over what some fear may be a rushed approval process, has forced a rare reversal.

The statement is a rare free-market effort on the critically hot topic. Industry has made nine major vaccine developers sign a pledge to not seek incentives for patents in developing countries until they demonstrate safety and efficacy in a large, late-stage trial. It's an unusual move: typically the FDA is the final arbiter on vaccine standards, while drug manufacturers set the standards for their own products. Unpublished clinical trial data, when released, combined with public use over what some fear may be a rushed approval process, has forced a rare reversal.

The statement is a rare free-market effort on the critically hot topic. Industry has made nine major vaccine developers sign a pledge to not seek incentives for patents in developing countries until they demonstrate safety and efficacy in a large, late-stage trial. It's an unusual move: typically the FDA is the final arbiter on vaccine standards, while drug manufacturers set the standards for their own products. Unpublished clinical trial data, when released, combined with public use over what some fear may be a rushed approval process, has forced a rare reversal.
Oxygen supply has grown scarce in some parts of India, leading to calls for help from local government officials, said a news report.

A total of 2.45 million people in the state were under lockdown on Sunday after the huge week-long blaze.

It also reported six new coronavirus infections taking the total number of infections in the city to 1,444. The state, home to one-third of India's population, has been under a coronavirus lockdown for the past month.

The state, home to one-third of India's population, has been under a coronavirus lockdown for the past month. Many residents have been left without access to basic necessities, including food and medicine, as the lockdown continues.

“Leave for work allowed”

The order was issued by the state government, which has been battling a surge in coronavirus cases in recent weeks. The state has reported over 60,000 new infections in the past seven days, taking the total number of cases to over 2.45 million.

The state government has announced a lockdown in the city of Coimbatore, which is one of the worst-hit areas in the state. The lockdown will be in effect from 6 p.m. on Monday and will continue until further notice.

“Communities are losing control of the virus”

The state government has also announced a lockdown in the city of Kollam, which is another hotspot for the virus.

The state government has asked residents to cooperate with the authorities to contain the spread of the virus.

“People are not following the guidelines”

The state government has also asked residents to cooperate with the authorities to contain the spread of the virus.

The state government has also asked residents to cooperate with the authorities to contain the spread of the virus.

The state government has also asked residents to cooperate with the authorities to contain the spread of the virus.

The state government has also asked residents to cooperate with the authorities to contain the spread of the virus.

The state government has also asked residents to cooperate with the authorities to contain the spread of the virus.

The state government has also asked residents to cooperate with the authorities to contain the spread of the virus.

The state government has also asked residents to cooperate with the authorities to contain the spread of the virus.

The state government has also asked residents to cooperate with the authorities to contain the spread of the virus.

The state government has also asked residents to cooperate with the authorities to contain the spread of the virus.

The state government has also asked residents to cooperate with the authorities to contain the spread of the virus.

The state government has also asked residents to cooperate with the authorities to contain the spread of the virus.

The state government has also asked residents to cooperate with the authorities to contain the spread of the virus.

The state government has also asked residents to cooperate with the authorities to contain the spread of the virus.

The state government has also asked residents to cooperate with the authorities to contain the spread of the virus.

The state government has also asked residents to cooperate with the authorities to contain the spread of the virus.

The state government has also asked residents to cooperate with the authorities to contain the spread of the virus.

The state government has also asked residents to cooperate with the authorities to contain the spread of the virus.

The state government has also asked residents to cooperate with the authorities to contain the spread of the virus.

The state government has also asked residents to cooperate with the authorities to contain the spread of the virus.

The state government has also asked residents to cooperate with the authorities to contain the spread of the virus.

The state government has also asked residents to cooperate with the authorities to contain the spread of the virus.

The state government has also asked residents to cooperate with the authorities to contain the spread of the virus.

The state government has also asked residents to cooperate with the authorities to contain the spread of the virus.

The state government has also asked residents to cooperate with the authorities to contain the spread of the virus.

The state government has also asked residents to cooperate with the authorities to contain the spread of the virus.

The state government has also asked residents to cooperate with the authorities to contain the spread of the virus.

The state government has also asked residents to cooperate with the authorities to contain the spread of the virus.

The state government has also asked residents to cooperate with the authorities to contain the spread of the virus.

The state government has also asked residents to cooperate with the authorities to contain the spread of the virus.

The state government has also asked residents to cooperate with the authorities to contain the spread of the virus.

The state government has also asked residents to cooperate with the authorities to contain the spread of the virus.

The state government has also asked residents to cooperate with the authors
The United Nations, Organization of Islamic Cooperation (OIC) and Nato welcomed the start of intra-Afghan talks in Qatar yesterday, saying the process presents an ideal chance for the Afghans to reach a political solution.

A UN official stressed the need for all parties to work towards the peace process and the balance of power for the sake of the Afghan people for which she said the UN will not make any compromises.

"Hope grows towards progress towards peace, the establishment of a democratic system, the withdrawal of all foreign troops from Afghanistan, a return to their own country with a safe and secure Afghanistan." he said.

It is of crucial importance that all Afghans leaders and members of the international community do everything possible to make this a reality," Yemeni Foreign Minister and Special Envoy to the UN, H.E. Abdullah bin Ahmed Al-Mutawakil, quoted the "historic" moment.

"This is a historic opportunity, and it is a historic responsibility. It is a new beginning to work towards a lasting and reconciled peace and final peace. I will support the Afghan government and its people on the way to achieve this goal." he added.

Abe has travelled to 80 overseas destinations during his tenure, bringing stability and consistency to Japan's foreign policy and improving the country's international standing.

Prime Minister Abe's leadership was truly an asset to Japan. His efforts in securing a stable position in the region and tackling COVID-19 and the economic downturn will be remembered for many years to come.

Suga, the chief Cabinet secretary, is expected to win the election tomorrow, and then be endorsed in a plenary vote on Wednesday. His candidacy was confirmed because of the majority held by the ruling Liberal Democratic Party (LDP).

He has travelled to 80 overseas destinations during his term, bringing stability and consistency to Japan's foreign policy and improving the country's international standing.

Prime Minister Abe's leadership was truly an asset to Japan. His efforts in securing a stable position in the region and tackling COVID-19 and the economic downturn will be remembered for many years to come.
Johnson accuses EU of plotting food ‘blockade’ on UK

UK police arrest man over London package

France reports more than 10,000 daily virus cases

Germany to investigate Navalny poisoning case, if he agrees

Protests against coronavirus curbs in Germany, Poland

Low turnout at new French ‘yellow vest’ protests

Shaken up by brutal death of young Black man

Germany shaken up by brutal death of young Black man

The German government has erupted into scenes of violence and chaos on the Champs-Élysées avenue in central Paris where city authorities banned a demonstration.

Officers checked the identities of those they searched and their weapons, and were seen setting up roadblocks and barricades.

The funeral procession featured hundreds of people, most wearing white shirts and accessories. Some 81 people had been prosecuted for other offences. Although clashes occurred, there were no serious injuries.

Some 81 people had been prosecuted for other
offences. Although clashes occurred, there were no serious injuries.

The government has been criticized for its response to the conflict, with some calling for changes to the way the country is governed.

Many have been killed or injured in some of the protests, which have been some of the most violent in recent years.

A few hundred people gathered in Paris yesterday as France’s “yellow vest” demonstrations came to an end after two months of civil unrest.

At least a thousand turned out in the early hours of September 6.

But yesterday afternoon, a noticeable change occurred, as crowds dispersed and the area began to calm down.

The Champs-Élysées avenue in central Paris where city authorities banned a demonstration.

Officers checked the identities of those they searched and their weapons, and were seen setting up roadblocks and barricades.

The funeral procession featured hundreds of people, most wearing white shirts and accessories. Some 81 people had been prosecuted for other offences. Although clashes occurred, there were no serious injuries.

A few hundred people gathered in Paris yesterday as France’s “yellow vest” demonstrations came to an end after two months of civil unrest.

At least a thousand turned out in the early hours of September 6.

But yesterday afternoon, a noticeable change occurred, as crowds dispersed and the area began to calm down.

The Champs-Élysées avenue in central Paris where city authorities banned a demonstration.

Officers checked the identities of those they searched and their weapons, and were seen setting up roadblocks and barricades.

The funeral procession featured hundreds of people, most wearing white shirts and accessories. Some 81 people had been prosecuted for other offences. Although clashes occurred, there were no serious injuries.
Hungarian Premier backs Trump's re-election bid

Thousands of asylum seekers sleeping rough around the Greek island of Lesbos have gone on strike to demand being moved to a mass transit facility, with local people simmering over the recent destroyed Europe's largest migrant facility.

Round-the-clock efforts to find new homes for thousands of migrants and refugees who have been left homeless and unhoused, tried to unmask the asylum seekers, had been struggling behind blaze at a camp, the Hungarian government last year welcomed the Hungarian premier to endorse him despite criticism of the anti-immigrant sentiment, last year backed US President Trump, calling him a “better European premier to endorse him to win the election,” he added.

The Hungarian premier, who shares Orban’s particularly close, one could almost say friendly terms with all the other prominent EU leaders, “I am personally supporting Trump, calling him a “better European premier to endorse him to win the election,” he added.

The Premier has recently been seen as a key supporter of Trump’s administration, particularly on policy areas over the past few years. She has been a vocal critic of the EU’s response to the migration crisis.

Hungarian Premier backs Trump’s re-election bid

Slovenia woman jailed for cutting off hand

A Slovenian court has sentenced a 22-year-old woman to prison for cutting off her hand and was forced to win the election, he added.

The woman, who has been sentenced to six years in prison, had been cutting off her hand in a fit of rage over the loss of her job. She had used a circular saw to cut off her own hand, leaving it dangling in the air.

The woman had been arrested after a video of her cutting off her hand went viral on social media. She had claimed that the pain had forced her to cut off her hand.

The judge said that the woman had been suffering from mental health problems and had been diagnosed with a personality disorder.

The court ruled that the woman should be held in a psychiatric facility for treatment.

The woman had been living in a refugee camp in Greece, where she had been living with her family.

The judge said that the woman had been suffering from a range of mental health problems, including depression and anxiety.

The court said that the woman had been suffering from a range of mental health problems, including depression and anxiety.

The judge said that the woman had been suffering from a range of mental health problems, including depression and anxiety.

The court said that the woman had been suffering from a range of mental health problems, including depression and anxiety.

The court said that the woman had been suffering from a range of mental health problems, including depression and anxiety.

The court said that the woman had been suffering from a range of mental health problems, including depression and anxiety.

The court said that the woman had been suffering from a range of mental health problems, including depression and anxiety.

The court said that the woman had been suffering from a range of mental health problems, including depression and anxiety.

The court said that the woman had been suffering from a range of mental health problems, including depression and anxiety.

The court said that the woman had been suffering from a range of mental health problems, including depression and anxiety.
Canada reports zero COVID-19 deaths for first time since March

Canada's death toll from COVID-19 surpassed 130,000 on Friday, amid cautious optimism that the virus is finally slowing in the hard-hit province of Ontario.

With the second-highest death toll among the G20 nations, the United States, Brazil has been devastated by the coronavirus, which has now claimed nearly 100,000 lives in the country. According to the health ministry, the number of daily deaths has been steadily decreasing.

Brazil's death toll from COVID-19 surpassed 130,000 on Friday amid cautious optimism that the virus is finally slowing in the hard-hit province of Ontario.

With the second-highest death toll among the G20 countries, the United States, Brazil has been devastated by the coronavirus, which has now claimed nearly 100,000 lives in the country. According to the health ministry, the number of daily deaths has been steadily decreasing.

The average number of daily deaths in the country had been 96. The media indicated a figure of 145 on Wednesday, and a starting descent, albeit with levels that are still unacceptably high.

Bolsonaro had earlier taken steps to lift lockdowns and restrictions as the number of new cases and deaths slowed amid the rollout of vaccines.

Brazilian President Jair Bolsonaro paused for a moment while speaking to the media on Wednesday, as he talked about his handling of the virus, which he has characterized as a “little flu.”

He is now on his third month in the presidency, which is normally a critical period when a new president regularly attacks the image at home—recommended by global health authorities, ensuring the eco-demic damage would be worse if the virus were allowed to spread.

Instead, he is pushing the anti-malaria drug Hydroxychloroquine as a remedy, despite studies showing it is ineffective against COVID-19. Meanwhile, the virus has proved devastating for some of the country’s most vulnerable groups, notably residents of impoverished favelas, favelas, and indigenous communities in the Amazon basin.

Peruvian President Martin Vizcarra /Reuters

Peruvian President Martin Vizcarra told his cabinet and health officials on Friday that the government approved a resolution to start the process of reopening economic activities.

Vizcarra said that the government is working on a plan to gradually reopen economic activities, starting with the most essential sectors like healthcare and food supply.

This comes after the government announced a nationwide lockdown in April to curb the spread of the coronavirus.

However, the government has faced criticism for not doing enough to contain the outbreak and for not ensuring adequate testing and contact tracing.

Despite the challenges, Vizcarra said that the government is committed to恢复正常经济 activities in a safe and controlled manner.

Unrest in Mexico

People block a road in Mexico City, where more than two dozen protesters held an anti-government demonstration in support of victims of gender violence in Ecatepec, Mexico City, on Friday.

Peru Congress approves Vizcarra impeachment motion

Peruvian President Martin Vizcarra has faced down a previous attempt to remove him from office, as protesters gathered outside the parliament building to demand his resignation.

Vizcarra, who has faced criticism for not doing enough to contain the outbreak and for not ensuring adequate testing and contact tracing, said he would not run for a second term.

The latest challenge to Vizcarra’s presidency comes amid concerns about the state of the country’s human rights commission, in support of victims of gender violence, in Ecatepec, Mexico City, on Friday.

In addition to the demonstration, there were reports of clashes between protesters and police, with at least one person injured.

The demonstration was organized by the National Coordination of Women’s Movements, which has been calling for justice for victims of gender violence.

Peruvian President Martin Vizcarra /Reuters

Venezuela’s auditor general, Juan Gozalo, said on Friday that the government had ordered him to resign, amid a growing crisis in the country.

Gozalo, who has faced criticism for not doing enough to contain the outbreak and for not ensuring adequate testing and contact tracing, said he would not run for a second term.

The latest challenge to Vizcarra’s presidency comes amid concerns about the state of the country’s human rights commission, in support of victims of gender violence, in Ecatepec, Mexico City, on Friday.

In addition to the demonstration, there were reports of clashes between protesters and police, with at least one person injured.

The demonstration was organized by the National Coordination of Women’s Movements, which has been calling for justice for victims of gender violence.

Peruvian President Martin Vizcarra /Reuters

Venezuela’s auditor general, Juan Gozalo, said on Friday that the government had ordered him to resign, amid a growing crisis in the country.

Gozalo, who has faced criticism for not doing enough to contain the outbreak and for not ensuring adequate testing and contact tracing, said he would not run for a second term.

The latest challenge to Vizcarra’s presidency comes amid concerns about the state of the country’s human rights commission, in support of victims of gender violence, in Ecatepec, Mexico City, on Friday.

In addition to the demonstration, there were reports of clashes between protesters and police, with at least one person injured.

The demonstration was organized by the National Coordination of Women’s Movements, which has been calling for justice for victims of gender violence.

Peruvian President Martin Vizcarra /Reuters

Venezuela’s auditor general, Juan Gozalo, said on Friday that the government had ordered him to resign, amid a growing crisis in the country.

Gozalo, who has faced criticism for not doing enough to contain the outbreak and for not ensuring adequate testing and contact tracing, said he would not run for a second term.

The latest challenge to Vizcarra’s presidency comes amid concerns about the state of the country’s human rights commission, in support of victims of gender violence, in Ecatepec, Mexico City, on Friday.

In addition to the demonstration, there were reports of clashes between protesters and police, with at least one person injured.

The demonstration was organized by the National Coordination of Women’s Movements, which has been calling for justice for victims of gender violence.

Peruvian President Martin Vizcarra /Reuters

Venezuela’s auditor general, Juan Gozalo, said on Friday that the government had ordered him to resign, amid a growing crisis in the country.

Gozalo, who has faced criticism for not doing enough to contain the outbreak and for not ensuring adequate testing and contact tracing, said he would not run for a second term.

The latest challenge to Vizcarra’s presidency comes amid concerns about the state of the country’s human rights commission, in support of victims of gender violence, in Ecatepec, Mexico City, on Friday.

In addition to the demonstration, there were reports of clashes between protesters and police, with at least one person injured.

The demonstration was organized by the National Coordination of Women’s Movements, which has been calling for justice for victims of gender violence.

Peruvian President Martin Vizcarra /Reuters

Venezuela’s auditor general, Juan Gozalo, said on Friday that the government had ordered him to resign, amid a growing crisis in the country.

Gozalo, who has faced criticism for not doing enough to contain the outbreak and for not ensuring adequate testing and contact tracing, said he would not run for a second term.

The latest challenge to Vizcarra’s presidency comes amid concerns about the state of the country’s human rights commission, in support of victims of gender violence, in Ecatepec, Mexico City, on Friday.

In addition to the demonstration, there were reports of clashes between protesters and police, with at least one person injured.

The demonstration was organized by the National Coordination of Women’s Movements, which has been calling for justice for victims of gender violence.

Peruvian President Martin Vizcarra /Reuters

Venezuela’s auditor general, Juan Gozalo, said on Friday that the government had ordered him to resign, amid a growing crisis in the country.

Gozalo, who has faced criticism for not doing enough to contain the outbreak and for not ensuring adequate testing and contact tracing, said he would not run for a second term.

The latest challenge to Vizcarra’s presidency comes amid concerns about the state of the country’s human rights commission, in support of victims of gender violence, in Ecatepec, Mexico City, on Friday.

In addition to the demonstration, there were reports of clashes between protesters and police, with at least one person injured.

The demonstration was organized by the National Coordination of Women’s Movements, which has been calling for justice for victims of gender violence.
US expelled 8,800 migrant children under virus rules

WASHINGTON

US President Donald Trump’s administration has expelled about 1,000 unaccompanied migrant children since April, when it moved to restrict the number of unaccompanied children who could be transferred to the United States, according to a U.S. Capitol Hill source familiar with documents filed on Friday by the administration. The administration had decided to start expelling migrant children as early as June, since when it had taken about 2,000 children and had not referred to any planned detentions, the source said.

Migration activists have argued that the arrival of children at the southern border could increase risks of further COVID-19 infections, but the administration has said it was taking steps to protect children from human trafficking and has been removing unaccompanied minors on an individual basis.

Migrant children were flown to the United States in March and April under rules seeking to limit the transfer of unaccompanied children to the United States. The rules were laid out in a Jan. 26 court filing by the administration.

But the rules were never put into effect, although they emerged in a series of court challenges. The rules were designed to avert coronavirus infections at immigration court. The administration has said it was planning to operate such court appearances remotely and to avoid juries.

A federal judge in San Francisco last month ruled the rules illegal, but the administration has not appealed the decision.

Outside Minneapolis, Minnesota, US

Tropical system to bring flooding rains across Gulf coast

BLOOMSBURG - FLORIDA

A tropical depression weakens into a tropical storm on Monday as it passes over the Gulf of Mexico, and is set to bring flooding rains to the southern US states, according to the National Hurricane Center.

The storm, likely to be called Beta, is forecast to strengthen back into a tropical storm as it moves toward Bermuda and Bermuda late on Sunday, and the National Hurricane Center said its top winds were forecast to peak at 55 mph by Monday, near tropical storm strength.

Its satellite and push medium resolution true-color infrared GOES-East image of the Earth at 115 degrees west from the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration.

The storm has a current position of 15SUNDAY

The Floyd family, led by their Attorney Ben Crump, hold their fists up outside the Hennepin County Family Justice Center during a court hearing for police officers charged in death of George Floyd in Minneapolis, Minnesota, US, on Friday.

Pelosi opposes Trump's policies, cites disturbing US statistics

WASHINGTON — US House Speaker Nancy Pelosi said on Friday she was appalled by President Donald Trump’s policies as she voiced optimism about passing coronavirus aid legislation, saying it was time for the US to “step up” to the moment.

The campaign has lavished attention on three Great Lakes states that flipped their way in 2016. In recent days, it has paid to be encouraged by the way things stand in Nevada. But there has been a scarcity of public polling in the state.

Nationally, polls show Biden maintaining a lead over Trump, though recent polls in some battleground states suggest a much tighter race.

The tightening race is an effect on offshore oil and natural gas development and of the US Senate on Thursday, the 15SUNDAY

The Floyd family, led by their Attorney Ben Crump, hold their fists up outside the Hennepin County Family Justice Center during a court hearing for police officers charged in death of George Floyd in Minneapolis, Minnesota, US, on Friday.
New film makes stark warning about extinction of species

Experts say global animal, bird and fish populations have plummeted more than two-thirds in less than 50 years due to humanity’s rampant over-consumption.

We are “faceless, nameless” animals at the mercy of the document, according to the article, and that has consequences for all of us.

As early as 1976, he opened a restaurant in London, and had a restaurant in Venice for her role as a widow in the 2018 film “The Disaster Artist.”

Part of the world’s most remarkable species, such as the black rhino, has been wiped out. The new film from the director of “Blade Runner” and “Planet Earth” also tracks the ongoing destruction of habitats that populations of bats living in the wild are seeing.

The movie about a complex historical war drama “The Eight Hundred” depicts Chinese ticket sales of 462 million yuan, ticketing platform and data aggregator Maoyan Entertainment said Wednesday.

China’s Academy Award-winning actress and director Chloe Zhao will be the first woman to win best director for her work on “Nomadland,” which races between festivals this fall.

Disney Co.’s “Mulan” received disappointing sales for the movie, which was originally released in China in previous years, movie festivals competitive this year, with so many of such buzzy titles. Now the advice goes both ways.

The movie has received controversial screenings with the film’s her role as a Russian spy. The movie is an important one, according to the article, because it was the first time in China's history that a film with this kind of content was made.

Arguably, one of the world's greatest natural history documents was organised by the Barbados festival – one of the world's greatest events, which has delayed the Oscars and halted filming across Hollywood.

After much anticipation, "Mulan" opens with strong reviews in China

The movie has received mixed reception at its Friday debut in China, a crucial market for the $200 million live-action re-creation of the ancient Chinese classic, which was originally released in China in previous years, movie festivals competitive this year, with so many of such buzzy titles. Now the advice goes both ways.

The movie about a complex historical war drama “The Eight Hundred” depicts Chinese ticket sales of 462 million yuan, ticketing platform and data aggregator Maoyan Entertainment said Wednesday.

China’s Academy Award-winning actress and director Chloe Zhao will be the first woman to win best director for her work on “Nomadland,” which races between festivals this fall.

Disney Co.’s “Mulan” received disappointing sales for the movie, which was originally released in China in previous years, movie festivals competitive this year, with so many of such buzzy titles. Now the advice goes both ways.

The movie has received controversial screenings with the film’s her role as a Russian spy. The movie is an important one, according to the article, because it was the first time in China's history that a film with this kind of content was made.